Title: Allow user to log-in with a username and password

Description: As a user, he or she should be able to enter in a username and password that allows him or her to access an account that has been previously set up. On the application, there should be an icon on the top right corner that allows the user to log in when it is clicked. When this is selected, a prompt will appear with entry fields for a username and password. The user will then submit a username and password combination (by pressing a "submit" button underneath the entry fields) that will be sent to a server for verification. Once a successful username and password combination has been submitted, the page will display the page the user was on (front/main page, a specific beach page, etc.) with a "signed in" icon/wording where the original log-in icon was. The user will now have additional options (to see his/her profile etc) next to the "signed in" icon.
